Abercrombie & Kent

Geoffrey Kent and his parents, Valerie and Colonel John Kent, founded Abercrombie & Kent in 1962. The company's beginnings were modest; Geoffrey Kent remembers their first safaris were conducted with little more than "a Bedford truck and my mother's sterling silver ice bucket." In 1967, Geoffrey Kent, now Managing Director following his parents' retirement, decided to expand A&K's signature style of travel. In 1969, he began opening additional companies in Africa; in 1971 he met Jorie Ford Butler of Oak Brook, Illinois and opened a sales office in the United States.

Today, A&K is the largest luxury tour operator worldwide, with over 55 offices in more than 30 countries, staffed by over 2,500 dedicated people. Our reputation allows A&K travellers private and sometimes exclusive access to amazing experiences around the world. With expertise in not only luxury travel but culture, wildlife and history, Abercrombie & Kent reveals each destination with an authenticity beyond the reach of any other travel company.

A&K in East Africa

Abercrombie & Kent is proud to say that it is the only DMC in East Africa that has offices in Kenya, Rwanda, Tanzania and Uganda. This means we provide your guests with the same consistent, high quality service across the region. Each of the offices are fully fledged in their own right and not only do they have their tour consultant teams they each have their own workshops where the A&K fleet of vehicles are maintained.

Our guides are among the best in the industry and are key to our success. They not only speak a variety of languages including French, Spanish, Italian, German and Japanese but they are also natural storytellers. They ensure the guests' journey is magical, drawing on their experiences to weave compelling and interesting stories about the wildlife, plants, culture and history. It is so much more than just the facts – which are easily available to anyone online – it's the local knowledge that ensures clients leave East Africa with wonderful, long-lasting memories.

Abercrombie & Kent has always been at the forefront of innovation in travel which has allowed us to take guests behind the scenes and provide utterly unique "Insider Access" moments for them. East Africa is the birthplace of Abercrombie & Kent and so the same is just as true here. This, combined with our Abercrombie & Kent Philanthropy projects, allows us to show guests a totally unique side to safari, the likes of which they have never before seen.

Safari in East Africa or Southern Africa?

East Africa

Wildlife

The wildlife in East Africa, specifically in Kenya and Tanzania, is found in higher concentrations than elsewhere on the continent; the great wildebeest migration alone contains 2 million individuals. Rwanda and Uganda are also home to the two largest primate species and both these countries can be easily combined with a wildlife safari.

Landscapes

There are a myriad of spectacular landscapes in East Africa - from the soaring mountains of Kilimanjaro and Kenya, the primate rich jungles in Rwanda and Uganda, the many rolling grassland savannahs and the long, wide beaches of the Indian Ocean coastline.

Activities & Culture

East Africa has numerous activities available from walking safaris to soaring over the plains in a hot air balloon. There are also a wide variety of cultures for guests to experience from the more famous Masai to the lesser known pygmy Batwa.

Food & Wine

Not a renowned destination for food but the properties offer delicious meals. There is also the option for guests to have a local cooking class in a village.

Beaches

Both Kenya and Tanzania have glorious beaches with the powder-white sand just a short flight away from the national parks and reserves.

Southern Africa

Wildlife

The wildlife in Southern Africa is less dense and trackers have to work a little harder to find them. However there are a larger number of close up wildlife interactions that make up for this. From walking with elephants in Botswana to meeting the Cape Penguins in Cape Town.

Landscapes

Southern Africa has a stunning variety of superbly contrasting landscapes. The deserts of Namibia with its rolling sand dunes onto the flat floodplains of the Okavango delta into the towering heights of the Drakensburg mountains.

Activities & Culture

Southern Africa not only offers safari activities but the wonderful cities of Cape Town and Johannesburg offer unusual art experiences, bike trips round the city and a myriad of cultural experiences from museums to walking tours with the locals.

Food & Wine

South Africa in particular is a foodies heaven with a wide range of culinary delights to suit any traveler. There are also a huge number of spectacular vineyards farms.

Beaches

The best beaches in Southern Africa are found in Mozambique which can be reached from any of the Southern Africa countries.
