Abercrombie & Kent

EAST AFRICA

There is travel and there is
Abercrombie & Kent.

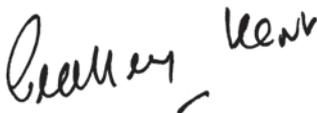

It seems only fitting that Geoffrey Kent, born on safari, should himself have played a parenting role in the creation of the luxury safari when he helped found Abercrombie & Kent in 1962.

In the land that has been our home for almost half a century, the Kent family was the first to offer guests an intimate, private look at the wilds of East Africa. We delved into pristine wilderness to set up luxury camps – previously unimaginable in Africa, and we offered our guests services equal to a five-star resort, making them feel at home.

Over forty-five years later, we are still pioneers of the quintessential African safari. Our choice of itineraries range from an introductory journey to East Africa or an insider's look at remote regions of Kenya and Tanzania, to one of the most exhilarating wildlife experiences – tracking some of the world's last remaining population of mountain gorilla in their natural habitat in Bwindi, Uganda. We offer a wide range of family holidays, active jaunts (perhaps a climb up Kilimanjaro?), pre-arranged itineraries in our Private Travel Collection, or customized itineraries for those who wish to travel independently.

Whether you are considering your first journey to Africa or a repeat visit to the land you have come to love, trust your safari with the one name synonymous with Africa: Abercrombie & Kent.

With best regards,

Geoffrey Kent

Tours within Nairobi, the capital city, can include a visit to the Nairobi National Park, Karen Blixen Museum, Giraffe Centre, Daphne Sheldrick's Elephant Orphanage, National Museum, open-air markets and more.

A trip to Kenya would not be complete without going out in search of the "Big Five" in some of the world's greatest game reserves and parks.

Highlights include: Amboseli National Reserve, Tsavo East and West National parks and the Chyulu Hills, where activities include walking and horse riding safaris.

Meru National Park boasts amazing habitat variations and is close to the snowcapped Mt. Kenya and the tree hotels and forests of the Aberdares.

In many parts of Laikipia, local communities have joined with private ranches to form large protected wildlife havens. Activities in the area include game viewing, walking, horse riding safaris, camel treks, scenic overflights, fly-camping or a truly unforgettable "star bed" experience. Further north still, little-visited Lake Turkana, Kenya's last frontier, is home to fascinating nomadic tribes and some exceptional archaeological sites.

The Rift Valley Lakes, home to over 340 bird species, include Lake Nakuru, famous for its thousands of pink flamingoes.

One of the wonders of the animal kingdom and perhaps Kenya's most famous spectacle is the annual wildebeest migration, which can be seen in the Maasai Mara - Serengeti eco-system, which straddles the Kenya-Tanzania border. The Maasai Mara is home to the most spectacular array of wildlife and big game in the country and is also a launching pad for balloon safaris and excursions to Lake Victoria.

The Kenyan Coast with its palm-fringed, white-sand beaches has a rich and colourful Swahili history and Lamu Island, with its distinct air of historical mystique, can provide visitors with a real step back in time.

The breathtaking Ngorongoro Crater whose floor is only 100 sq miles, is home to around 30,000 animals and the Olduvai Gorge is the site of the remains of man's oldest ancestors.

The vast Serengeti supports the annual migration of over 2 million wildebeest, zebra and other plains game as they follow the rains searching for new grass.

In the South the great Ruaha river runs through the Ruaha National Park offering stunning scenery, a wide variety of game and over 370 species of bird. The remote Selous Game Reserve, traversed by the palm-fringed Rufiji River, is a fantastic off-the-beaten-track safari destination.

A&K in Uganda

About Uganda

Uganda's natural beauty led Winston Churchill to refer to her as the 'Pearl of Africa.' The habitat boasts a mixture of forests, lakes, plains, semi-desert and mountains. Uganda is famous for its primate species, including the chimpanzee and the endangered mountain gorilla at Bwindi.

BEST TIME TO GO: Year round

CAPITAL CITY: Kampala

CLIMATE: Equatorial

CURRENCY: Uganda Shilling

The country has amazing biological diversity with over 1000 bird species, over 80 species of small mammals, amphibians and reptiles, many of them endemic.

Principal Sights

Kampala, said to be built on seven hills, is the busy capital of Uganda. Tours include the Rubaga and Namirembe cathedrals, the Kasubi Tombs, the Uganda Museum and the only Bahai temple in Africa.

Entebbe is the former administrative centre of Uganda.

A popular excursion is a visit to the Jane Goodall Institute chimpanzee Sanctuary on Ngamba Island.

Uganda's national parks reflect the country's position between the Congo forests and the rolling savannah of East Africa.

Bwindi National Park encompasses one of the last remaining habitats for mountain gorillas and is home to half the surviving mountain gorillas in the world. Tracking is a year-round activity and the gorillas you will track will belong to one of the two 'habituated' family groups in Northern Bwindi. A daily maximum of 8 visitors to each gorilla group makes this one of the most exclusive wildlife activities in the world.

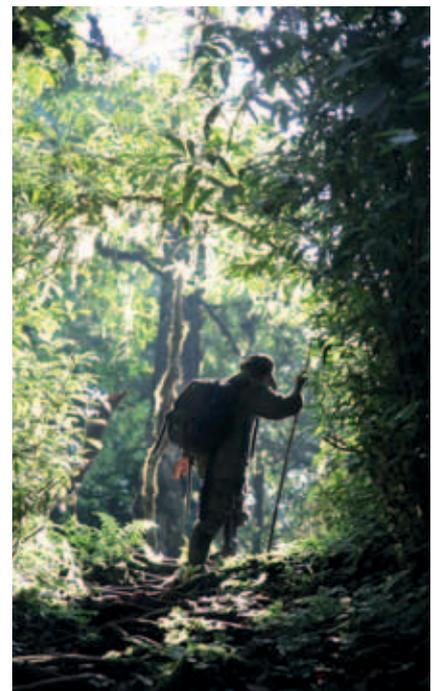

Murchison Falls NP, Uganda's largest game park, is bisected by the Nile whilst Kibale Forest National Park is a tropical rain forest with the highest primate density on earth. Queen Elizabeth National Park has a variety of habitats, from the 10,000 year-old volcanic craters in the north, home to elephant and buffalo, to the dry southern plains with herds of Ugandan kob.

Uganda offers exciting adventure safaris.

Experience white water rafting at the source of the Nile, bungee jumping or scenic Quad bike safaris.

Something Special

We hold stock of gorilla permits as permits are in extremely high demand and difficult to acquire. We run luxury mobile camps, giving us the opportunity to take our guests, in comfort, to areas that are not accessible to other visitors.

Private Mobile Camping

Abercrombie & Kent's "Private Camping" safari refers to the private tented camps that are pitched in foremost wildlife areas for your group alone.

Your camp is a private sanctuary where the panorama of the bush bursts into view every time you step out of your tent and as you walk around camp.

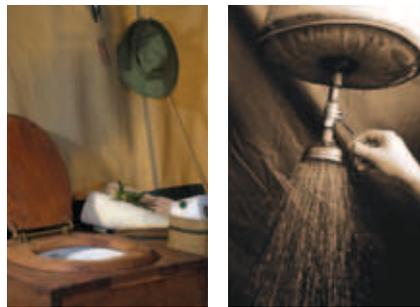

BEST TIME TO GO: June-Oct & Dec-March
CAMPS MAY NOT OPERATE:
April, May & November

Accommodation

Each tent is furnished with a large comfortable bed, campaign furniture, cushions and hand woven rugs in warm organic colours that blend in with the environment. Your personal tent attendant will make sure that the Egyptian cotton sheets on your bed are crisp and that a hot water bottle is slipped beneath your duvet on chilly nights. While you are at supper, he will have turned down your bed and lowered your mosquito net.

The arched windows and the front entrance of your tent incorporate special netting to allow the breeze to pass through your tent whilst keeping away unwanted insects.

On your veranda are two director's chairs and a butler's table that make for a perfect vantage point for watching sunrise with your morning tea or coffee, or enjoying the sunset with your sundowners.

Bathroom

Each tent is fully equipped with a flushing ceramic toilet, wash basin and shower. Your tent attendant will be at hand to ensure the temperature of the water in your bucket shower is just right for you – at whatever time of the day or night you may wish to bathe.

Laundry

Your tent attendant will also take care of your laundry which will be delivered, weather permitting, to your tent each morning - pressed beautifully by an old fashioned charcoal iron. Shoes that require cleaning will be taken away in the evening and returned to you with your morning tea or coffee.

Lighting

Your tent is solar powered so that you have two bright bedside reading lamps and an overhead light in your bedroom and bathroom.

Bar

Wines, spirits, beers and soft drinks are included in the tariff. All are served in the finest crystal glasses with a clink of ice - a welcome luxury in the bush.

Food and Dining

Three main meals are served each day. Meal times and dining locations can be improvised to suit your daily schedule. Breakfast and evening meals are usually taken in our large mess tent, whilst delicious picnics can be prepared for you to enjoy in the bush, if you so wish.

Our meals are prepared with the very freshest ingredients and we will gladly observe any special dietary preferences. Our expert chefs take full advantage of vegetables and salads that are in season.

Community Initiatives

We involve as many community initiatives as possible. Rwandan refugees hand craft our rugs and bed covers; Samburu ladies make our leatherwork and bead our furnishings; Maasai and Samburu warriors keep watch in the camp at night and we fully support local A&K Philanthropy ventures.

Your stay with us

A safari has no fixed time scale and guests can even stay for a month or more. We are entirely flexible and will pitch a full luxury camp for as few as 2 guests to as many as 80. We can provide nannies, masseurs, photographers, film makers and other specialists on request.

Ecological Sensitivity

Ecologically this form of safari is ideal as we leave no permanent fixtures and allow the environment to remain as pristine as we first found it.

A&K Safari Guides

In addition to the usual driver-guide, A&K safaris can be escorted by a Professional Safari Guide, who will design each day in East Africa to suit your individual interests, requirements and pace, as well as give you a unique insight into the wildlife, culture and history of the region. Two fine examples of the calibre of our guides are David Bromham and Ally Mtumwa. David, who grew up in the Himalayan foothills of India, enjoyed his first safari on the back of an elephant at the age of three. He served in the British Army and worked as a guide in Florida, before joining A&K in Kenya from where he now also leads safaris in Botswana, Rwanda and India. Ally was born at Ujiji in Western Tanzania where Henry Stanley is said to have uttered "Dr. Livingstone, I presume". Ally speaks 6 European languages and has been a leading guide for A&K Tanzania for more than 15 years. His passion is Tanzania's wildlife especially the declining African Wild Dog population. Ally also has diplomas in Environment Law and International Relations Diplomacy and was a fantastic boxer in his youth.

A&K Safari Vehicles

Abercrombie & Kent is proud to own 70 customised 4x4 Land Cruisers in the East Africa region and 50 minibuses. Each of our offices has its own dedicated workshop and mechanical team who ensure that our vehicles are maintained and serviced to only the very highest standards. Our insistence on quality has led us to choose seating configurations that ensure a maximum of 6 passengers per vehicle, each with a window-seat to optimise game viewing. Vehicles are closed but with openable roofs to allow better vision and photography whilst in the bush. Our A&K driver-guides are also the most experienced in East Africa - many are multi-lingual (allowing us to offer services in English, Spanish, Italian, Japanese, Chinese, French and German) and all are trained to the very highest levels through our extensive in-house training programmes.
